A new pumpkin variety developed by USDA produces seed without the usual hard seed coat. The Lady Godiva Pumpkin will be grown to produce seed for the toasted pumpkin seed market. Each fruit will yield about a cup of seed. Developers say there is a 30 million pound market available to growers.

Illinois reports that pig fed rations containing either regular corn or waxy corn had equal gains. The feed per unit of gain about 5 per cent less for the waxy corn than for those with regular corn.

So waxy corn continues to look good in feed tests.

Work at Illinois also confirms that floor space allowances are important when maximum feed intake and daily gain are wanted.

Growing finishing pigs given the recommended space allowances gained at fast, ate as much feed, and were as efficient as pigs allowed an additional two square feet per pig. Pigs given less space ate less feed, gained more slowly, and used more feed per pound of gain.

This and other work indicated that overcrowding affects gain more than feed efficiency. Producers who crowd more than the recommended number of pigs into a building because of high building costs will probably find that it takes longer to get them to market weight.

If you haven't purchased your vegetable seed, better get it done. There'll be more people growing gardens in 1974 and the seed supply may be down.

• • •

About 75% of corn harvest accidents reported in a recent survey happened during the periods of 10 to 11 a.m. and 3 to 5 p.m. To head off fatigue, monotony, and frustration, regardless of your job, take a break in mid-morning and mid-afternoon.

With spring field work at hand, it's a good time for wives to bring refreshments to the working husband. It could save an accident.

Tractors and other slow moving vehicles will be on the highways in increasing numbers in the weeks ahead. Now is a good time to renew or replace faded SMV emblems. They may need only a good washing--just be sure that they are bright.

Red House Bull Sale

RED HOUSE-A top performing Angus bred by R. T. Cannon of Castleton brought $1,875 at a recent bull sale at the Red House Bull Evaluation Center.

The bull was among 44 sold for a total of $50,775, with each bull averaging $1,223, reported A. L. Eller Jr., assistant professor of animal science and Extension specialist at Virginia Tech.

Eller said that the 25 Angus bulls averaged $1,125, the 17 Polled Herefords $1,223 and the two Charolais $925.

The Red House Bull Evaluation Center is an official central bull testing station of the Virginia Beef Cattle Improvement Association. The center is located four miles west of Red House on Virginia 615.

Buyer for the top bull was Kyanite Mining Corp. of Dillwyn. The next highest selling bull, a Polled Hereford consigned by James Bennet of Red House, also was bought by Kyanite for $1,700, Eller said.

The top Charolais sold for $1,050 to M. D. Ritchie of Blackstone. The Charolais was consigned by G-5 Charolais Ranch of Abingdon. Only 17 bulls brought under $1,000, the Tech specialist noted.

Each bull sold had complete performance records indicating genetic history and offspring potential. The bulls had been at the Red House Center approximately six months, Eller said, and had undergone 140-day feedlot gain testing. The average daily gain for the group was 2.8 lbs. while the average 365-day weight was 952 pounds, Eller said.

8 & 9 4-Her's

The 8 & 9 4-Her's had their 5th meeting of the school year. The president, Pam Turner, called the meeting to order, and pledged the flags. The secretary, Brigit Wath read the minutes of the last meeting. Then the president called for any old business. Mr. Sweet talk about the pine seedling orders, then the president called any new business and Mr. Sweet talked about giving demonstrations and Share the Fun. He give us sheets on the demonstration and Share The Fun. He gave us a demonstration to get the idea then the president adjourned the meeting.

Take it from me,
